day's final price.

OZANAM LEAGUE IS NOW ORGANIZED AT CAPITAL

Ozanam League of the Archdiocese of Baltimore, which is made up of Catholic clubs, was permanently organized at a meeting in the auditorium at Carroll Institute last night.

President W. C. Sullivan designated a committee, composed of the Rev. A. M. Mark, of St. Anthony's Church, Brook-Mark, of St. Anthony's Church, Brookland; John Boyland, of St. Stephen's Institute, and George R. Cooksey, of the Adinas Association, to consider and report upon the time, place, and duration of the convention. The Catholic University of America, Carroll Institute, the Catholic Seminary in Baltimore and Ocean City, Md., where the Catholic school will be held this summer, are among the places under consideration for holding the convention.

The league is named in honor of Frederic Ozanam, founder of the St. Vincent de Paul Society. No limit is set on the scope of the work of the new organization, and it is proposed to stimulate interest by the establishment of a system of athletic and intellectual contests between the various units of the league.

BIG COTTON TRADERS ARE TAKING PROFITS

NEW YORK, June 16 .- The big traders appeared to be taking profits at the opening of the cotton market this morning for a time. The demand from wire ses on overnight orders absorbed the offerings and sustained prices, but eventually this inquiry was supplied. Some of the brokers who led the re-Some of the brokers who led the recent buying movement were conspicuous sellers of October in the first ten minutes. There was also considerable selling of December by the same interests. It still remained, however, a very nervous market, being especially sensitive to bullish overtures in view of the strong position of the spot article in the South.

FIRE ALARM BOX NOW IN HOME OF THE AGED

There is a feeling of security today at the Home for the Aged that was not known before certain friends of the institution interested themselves in securing for it a fire alarm box. The building is regarded by Chief Engineer Belt as one needing most prompt attention in case of fire and he was the first to subscribe $5 when it was discovered there were no funds with which to install a special box at the Home.

Mrs. C. F. Beers, wife of Captain Beers, of the Fire Department. undertook the canvass for funds and succeeded. The box is now installed.

NEW YORK.

The possibility that the report of the State superintendent of insulation of the Equitable Forly may set a set bells jangling again was minitioned as a reason for the dullness of the market. It is significant of the trend of Wall street opinion that the larger commission houses advised their customers yesterday that the insurance squabble need no longer be regarded as a threat of imminent danger to security values, though it would tend to repress bullish enthusiasm as long as it remained in its present anomalous condition. In other words, the Ryan plan is admitted to have accomplished something, even though it is but a step in the settlement, instead of the settlement itself. To Wall street the salient feature of the present Equitable situation is the elimination of several of the warring factions.

American Steel Foundries stocks have now got down to a level on which traders are inclined to regard them as a good speculation. The recent declina is recognized as havin— been aggravated by the unsuccessful menagement of a rather ambitious pool, and as a result the stocks are rather unique among those of going industrial concerns in selling very near the lowest prices of the year. Naturally enough, traders did not help the pool to liquidate advantageously, as is witnessed by the circulation of rumors of differences among the directors and officers of a serious rature. These reports have received official denial.

Commissioners architana, we see Biddle acted as arbiters of the dispute. Corporation Counsel Duvall was on hand to advise them on questions of international and other law. Major Richard Sylvester and Dr. Woodward, Health Officer, were duly accredited peace envoys from the Health Office, respectively. Colonel Biddle was allowed to act as a representative of the Engineer Department himself, thus playing a double role, as judge and plaintiff.

The doors were closed and not even a stenographer was present. The entire history of the disagreement over the pond question was gone over from the colonial denial.
